FROM CLO'S DESK

The winter often reminds me of the last lines of Shelly's poem, "Ode to the West Wind."-
If Winter Comes Can Spring be far behind?

The line is an epitome of optimism and positive thinking. Though for the present the cold winter be the ruler all around, yet the very approach of winter means the impending arrival of the spring season soon after winter. We must have a firm belief in the goodness of things and have a strong self-confidence. There is no occasion for feeling dismayed. The best attitude in life is that of an optimistic stoic. Joys and sorrows should be treated in their own stride. They should be given equal treatment. Thus, we must rest assured that our sorrows, if any, are short-lived and a period of joy awaits us. Such thinking will always maintain our poise and peace of mind.

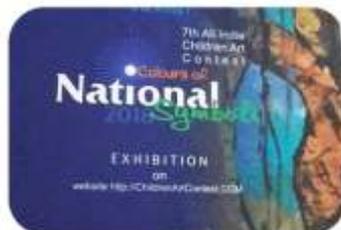

With these positive thoughts, enjoy and welcome the winter!

Warm regards

FEATURED STORY

ROBOT THIEF

Shantam lived in a lovely, futuristic house, which had everything one could ever want. He was pleased when his parents bought him the latest model of butler robot. As soon as it arrived, off it went; cooking, cleaning, ironing, and - most importantly gathering up old clothes from Shantam's bedroom floor. On that first day, when he woke up the next morning, everything was perfectly clean and tidy in his room. Shantam couldn't find his favourite T-shirt, nor his favorite toy. However much he searched, two items did not reappear, and the same was starting to happen with other things. He became suspicious of the robot butler and started looking at it as a thief off he went, running to his parents, to tell them that the butler was broken and badly programmed. Shantam asked them to have it changed. But his parents told him absolutely not. So Shantam needed to get some kind of proof; maybe take some hidden photos.

One day, the robot was whirring past, heard the boy's complaints. The robot returned with one of the boy's toys and some clothes for him. You thief! You've been stealing my stuff for weeks!" the boy answered, furiously.

"The objects were left on the floor. I therefore calculated that you did not like them. I am programmed to collect all that is not wanted, and at night I send it to places other humans can use it. I am a maximum efficiency machine. Were you unaware?" the robot said, with a certain pride. Shantam started feeling ashamed. He had spent all his life treating things as though they were useless.

HABITS

Tidiness is a very important virtue that helps children to order their thoughts and priorities.

Clutter is the source of too many problems and shameful situation.

Below are some tips on how to become tidy

- Give Items A Home. ...
- Set Tidying Goals. ...
- Always Make A Room Better Than You Found It. ...
- Don't Let Things Pile Up. ...
- Put things away after using them. ...
- If you notice something broken and know you won't repair it (be honest you probably won't), then discard it immediately.
- Be alert for anything not used or loved, discard or donate it immediately.

THE SCRIBBLES

Let's Build Snowman!

The children of Lakeville Elementary wait patiently every year for the first snow of the winter season. This year, it came in the middle of December! Every child looked out the window that morning and smiled! Especially Tina. Tina loves to build snowman, she builds one snowman everyday. As soon as Tina saw the snow, she ran around the house together to search for the items she will need to decorate it.

First Tina rolled one large ball of snow. then she rolled two more. once she had three balls of snow, she put one on top of each other. Next, Tina used coal to make button and then some to make eyes. To complete the face, Tina found twigs in her backyard to make two arms. Lastly, Tina used a purple hat and a scarf and placed it on the snowman. Her snowman was complete.

Tina ran inside the house to get her parents. She showed her amazing snowman to her mother and father she build all by herself. This was the best first snowy day

POETRY

A WINTRY NIGHT

“ Smooth and clean
And frosty white
The world looks good enough to bite.
That's the season
To be young
Catching snowflakes
On your tongue”

WINTER

Our street is dead and lazy
Especially in winter
In the morning you wake up
And lying there
Saying nothing, huddled
Under its white
But soon the Lorries arrive
Like angry mums,
Pull back the blankets
And send it shivering
Off to work

जाड़े की तो है बात निराली

जाड़े की तो है बात निराली
खेल का मैदान रहता है खाली
सारे सिमटे रजाई में
खेल जाती खटाई में
खाली मैदान में दौड़ूँ सरपट
होती नहीं किसी से खटपट
जाड़े में पीता हूँ काहवा
उस पर से गाजर का हलवा
सोचते ही मुँह से आता है पानी
जाड़े की तो है बात निराली
